National Weather Service

A NWS flood warning remains in effect for various counties in central and southern Wisconsin. <http://www.crh.noaa.gov/arx/>

NWS said flood waters are usually deeper than they appear. Even one foot of flowing water is powerful enough to sweep vehicles off the road. Be especially cautious at night when it is harder to recognize the dangers of flooding. Most flood related deaths occur in automobiles.

National Weather Service water levels and flood predictions:

<http://www.weather.gov/ahps/forecasts.php>

NWS reports major flooding on rivers at Baraboo, Watertown, Milford, Jefferson, Fort Atkinson, Newville, Indianford and New Munster. Moderate flooding is reported on rivers at Beaver Dam, Horicon, Berlin, Burlington and Martintown.

The hydrological report is located at <http://www.crh.noaa.gov/ahps2/index.php?wfo=mkx>

Federal/State

Joint state-federal disaster assessment teams will meet with representatives from Fond du Lac, Waukesha, Kenosha, Marquette and Iowa counties today, and will finish assessments in Dodge, and Winnebago counties.

A Joint Field Office will open today in Madison, staffed by state agencies, FEMA, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), and other federal agencies. Crews will continue assessing private sector damage in additional counties today, and begin assessing damage to public infrastructure next week.

FEMA is advising citizens that its disaster assistance covers an individual's basic needs only and will not normally compensate the entire loss. The government may help pay for basic needs not covered under insurance policies.

The disaster declaration frees up federal funding for individual assistance in these counties for eligible expenses such as home repair and temporary housing. Individuals need to call

1-800-621-FEMA to apply for assistance, or apply online at www.fema.gov.
When applying for help, be sure to have the following information available:

- Your current telephone number;
- Your address at the time of the disaster and the address where you now are staying;
- Your Social Security number, if available;
- A general list of damages and losses you suffered;
- If insured, the name of your company or agent and your policy number;
- General financial information;
- Bank account coding if you wish to speed up your assistance with direct deposit.

Disaster victims may be eligible for grants and or loan interest loans. The FEMA representative will explain the details to you when you call.

U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) offers low-interest disaster loans for homeowners, renters and businesses of all sizes to repair or replace damaged or destroyed property.
