WEM Launches Online Course Registration Program

(MADISON) – Wisconsin Emergency Management (WEM) has launched a new online training portal at www.trainingwisconsin.org. This new system replaces the previous document-based registration process.

"We are excited to be able to provide this new level of convenience for our students," said Brian Satula, WEM Administrator. "The new website is a simple, effective way for people to access our trainings and track their course progress."

The new website will allow emergency managers, first responders and others from across the state to register online for local, state and federal classes and keep track of their completed courses and print certificates. The full catalog of courses from WEM and its partner agencies is available on the site, and users can view upcoming sessions and any required prerequisites.

"We have listened to the needs and suggestions of our course registrants," said WEM Training Section Supervisor David Nunley. "After finishing a course, users can download and print copies of their completion certificates as needed."

For additional information about the new training portal, please contact David Nunley at 608-242-3213 or via email: david.nunley@wisconsin.gov.
